

Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorist Financing: Flag the Money for Directors

(AML-LVF-FTMDE01-ELR)

Flag the Money™ for Directors is a highly engaging 35-minute online course that gives board directors the governance information they need to effectively oversee the anti-money laundering (AML) compliance regime at their credit union both as a standalone program and as a key component of enterprise risk management.

After building a strong foundation of AML and CTF knowledge through drama, interviews with experts, and interactive exercises, the course focuses on specific information the board needs from the compliance officer to ensure that their AML/CTF program meets or exceeds legal and social obligations while protecting the credit union's assets and reputation.

Directors will learn about:

- How money laundering and terrorist financing work
- What credit unions can do to effectively recognize and report potential money laundering and terrorist financing
- Government agencies associated with money laundering and terrorist financing in Canada
- The key principles of a risk-based approach to AML and CTF
- What questions a board should ask about the five elements of their compliance regime
